EXPERIENCE

The Washington Post

Washington D.C.

Graphics Intern

June 2014-August 2014

Developed and designed graphic news stories for both web and print. Helped reporters gather, organize and clean data used in graphic stories and data visualizations. Worked across the newsroom to create immersive and visually appealing graphics and interactives.

Caktus Group

Carrboro, N.C.

Front-end Developer Intern

January 2014-April 2014

Worked collaboratively to create Django-based web apps for clients in addition to in-house projects. Participated in front-end development for Duckling, a web app to help conference attendees find and create activities and outings to attend with other conference goers.

Online News Association 2013 Conference and Banquet Student Newsroom

Atlanta, G.A.

Conference Reporter

October 16-19, 2013

Worked alongside mentors to create a web application for the Online News Association conference. I focused on Atlanta music and concerts happening the weekend of the conference. I created an interactive package including videos, maps and links to local restaurants and concerts in the area. I also helped other participants in the student newsroom with their web projects.

Reese News Lab Summer Startup Program

Chapel Hill, N.C.

Intern/Lead Developer

May 2013-August 2013

Spent twelve weeks creating a business plan, marketing plan and prototype for Capitol Hound, an audio archiving and alert system for the North Carolina General Assembly. I collaborated with a team of three to create a viable, feasible and desirable product to then pitch the idea to a group of area professionals.
